TO SOON START
KAHULUI WORK

DREDGER RECLAMATION STOPPED WORKING TODAY IN ORDER TO PREPARE FOR CONTRACT.

The Reclamation of the Hawaiian Dredging Company's fleet of mud diggers, stopped work this morning on the Federal improvements of the ideal harbor and was poised inside the harbor. The Reclamation is to be overhauled as rapidly as possible, for she is to be sent to Kahului without delay in order that the work of improving Kahului harbor can be commenced. The Hawaiian Dredging Company has a contract with the Alexander and Baldwin interests to make extensive improvements of Kahului harbor. Work has to be commenced before the end of the month. The Reclamation will be towed to Kahului by the tug Fearless. The Pearl the other dredger of the company will be put into commission to take the place of the Reclamation in the local harbor work.

The auction dredger Pacific is working near the mouth of the channel. Work in that section is being attended with difficulties for a disagreeable swell is setting in the harbor. The line of pontoons on which run the debris pipes is being constantly broken. Negotiations looking to securing the services of the Pacific for the Kahului contract were conducted but failed to bring about a satisfactory agreement. The local company is therefore sending one of its own dredgers to do that work.

THE DEATH OF A VETERAN TEACHER

BENJAMIN KAHOOPI KAIWIAEA
FOR 23 YEARS IN THE SERVICE
OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

HANA, February 28.—After a short period of illness, Benjamin Kahooapi Kaiwiae died at Hana School, Hana, Maui, at 11:30 p. m. February 24, 1906.

He left behind a wife, a daughter, and a brother and sister. He was born at Kipahulu, Maui, on August 7, 1883, his father and mother being Kaiwiae and Momihi. He was educated in the Hawaiian language in some of the Hawaiian schools, and then spent one year in the Royal School at Honolulu. He afterwards attended Lahainaluna Seminary, and graduated in the year 1881. In the same year he married Rachel Kekela, and was appointed school teacher for Hana. His was the first English school opened at this place. During all these long years of service he never moved to any other school until only last year when he moved to the school where he died. He performed his duties well and honestly, and was given a Life Certificate by the Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Practically every person born in Hana during the past score and more of years, whether living in Hana now or elsewhere, has been a pupil of Mr. Kaiwiae, and come under his influence. In large degree he has molded the present generation and his influence has always been to the making of good citizenship for the Territory. Many who knew him will mourn him.

NO MORE "PALM TREE" IN TOWN

SHORTAGE OF A FAVORITE VARIETY OF GIN REPORTED.—TEN THOUSAND CASES DELAYED.

Ten thousand cases of gin are afloat somewhere on the briny deep—enough to float a considerable portion of Honolulu in booze. Palm Tree one of the most favorite brands of gin, the kanaka brand, is the variety that is bound in such quantity to these shores. The fact that such a quantity is bound to these islands means that there is a corresponding shortage of the drink ashore.

There is a famine of Palm Tree gin in the islands, in fact practically none is to be had. It was stated to a Star reporter, by several people who were seen coming out of several well known resorts, that unless some of the related cargoes of gin arrived, the day of the Palm Tree in these islands were numbered, because little of the particular variety was to be had for love or money.

The shortage of the particular variety is due to unforeseen circumstances. In fact the elements appear to have combined to drive the Palm Tree drinkers to teetotalism or desperation. The ship Huzogin Sophie Charlotte, the barks Dunbritton and Paul Isenberg contain the shipments of Palm Tree aggregating 10,000 cases. The Dunbritton was recently abandoned off the British Isles and the other vessels had to put into South American ports for repairs. Delays have consequently occurred until now there is a dearth of the particular variety.

But there are other brands just as good the dealers will say as Palm Tree. The records of the police court have not shown any marked diminution in the number of cases of intoxication though, since the present shortage of booze began.

BOARDING HOUSE IS MUCH NEEDED

SECRETARY WOOD OF THE PROMOTION COMMITTEE VOICES A LONG FELT WANT HERE.

"I had one very real matter brought home to me this morning in regard to a crying necessity in Honolulu," said Secretary Wood of the Promotion Committee today. "A gentleman who has been down here with his wife for several weeks brought the matter up, and the thing we seem to need is a first class family boarding house. This man made the remark that every cent he spent in any of the hotels here got its value. The hotels, he remarked, were excellent in every respect, as anyone who had travelled at all would concede and the charges were most reasonable, as hotel charges go, but the fact remained that he was spending about $12 a day for living expenses for himself and his wife that was a little more than he could afford."

"A good family boarding house where a man and his wife could live in simple style with no frills, so to speak, is really required here if we are going to get the people to come. It is my experience that the school teachers are a splendid medium for promotion and I have been doing all I can to interest the teachers of the North west in particular as that is a legitimate field for us. Of course the average school teacher could not be expected to get together more than say $250 or $300 for a holiday trip and as big hotel bills on such a sum are out of the question. The establishment of a boarding house of the character I have mentioned is a matter we must take up."
